

32nd SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME - C

If we live and die for God, we shall be reunited with him. The experience of life 'in God' led most Jews to believe in bodily resurrection. Not so the Sadducees; strict conservatives, although morally lax, they did not allow the development of doctrine. They were seeking comedy and controversy when they posed their absurd and heartless question. The law required a man to marry his brother's widow if there were no male heir, not to help her but to ensure immortality through survival of the family name. Jesus reflects like a rabbi: Our life face-to-face with God will be radically different from this life. We believe in resurrection because we are sure that the living God loves us. The first reading recounts the heroism of seven brothers and their mother who chose death rather than apostasize. How can those who lose their life for God be deprived of it for ever? The King of the world will raise them. St. Paul prays for comfort and strength for his beloved converts. His prayer is appropriate today, whether we face persecution and martyrdom or the insidious threats of a secularized world.

32nd Sunday in OT – Nov. 06, 2016

THE SHEPHERDS' TRUST COLLECTION – 2016

The Shepherds' Trust cares for those who always cared for us ... our retired priests. They were with us to joyfully celebrate our marriage, baptize our children and also support us during times of sadness and grief.

A copy of the Trust's annual newsletter will be made available to parishioners next weekend. Find time to read the personal stories about how priests have greatly influenced the lives of so many of us.

The SHEPHERDS' TRUST also recognizes the faithfulness and years of service to us by members of religious orders working in the Archdiocese. The strong ties we have to them are extended by ensuring that funds collected in parishes served by religious order priests, be given to those orders as a contribution towards the retirement of the priests. The SHEPHERDS' TRUST COLLECTION takes place in the weekend of Nov 12/13; the Appeal will be delivered next weekend, Nov 5/6.
